

Fachbereichsbibliothek Bildungswissenschaft, Sprachwissenschaft und Vergleichende Literaturwissenschaft

Neue Datenbanken im Bibliothekskatalog / u:search

(Volltext nur im IP-Bereich der Universität Wien bzw. per VPN zugänglich!)

Oxford bibliographies

Die Datenbank stellt sowohl ein umfangreiches Nachschlagewerk als auch eine Bibliographie zu unterschiedlichsten Themen verschiedener Fachgebiete dar. Zu jedem Eintrag findet sich wichtige Sekundärliteratur inkl. einer Kurzbeschreibung der Quelle.

Verlags-Link: <http://www.oxfordbibliographies.com/>

Online-Katalog:

Linguistics – Oxford bibliographies

The study of linguistics makes connections across a wide array of scholarly concerns, from the humanities to many of the social and behavioral sciences to biology, physics, engineering, and even medicine. The study of language is central to a large number of rapidly advancing fields, such as neuroscience, cognitive science, and computer science. These overlapping domains make it challenging to stay informed about every applicable area and great deal of this work has moved online with the most recent scholarship, research, and statistics appearing in online databases.

<http://ubdata.univie.ac.at/AC11229968>

British & Irish literature – Oxford bibliographies

As a key part of Western literary and cultural history, British and Irish literature encompasses a massive range of periods, authors, and works that make it one of the most active fields in academia today. As such, this area of study invites trans-disciplinary collaboration with fields as varied as history, cultural studies, political science, and philosophy making it challenging for students and scholars to stay informed about every applicable area.

<http://ubdata.univie.ac.at/AC11229967>

American literature – Oxford bibliographies

From postmodern theory to debates about the canon, from slave narratives to comic books, American literature is one of the most active fields in academia today. The field is characterized by the many cultures, religions, and ethnicities that have contributed to the larger American literary tradition over the past 500 years. The study of literature invites trans-disciplinary collaboration with fields as varied as history, cultural studies, politics, and women's studies making it challenging for students and scholars to stay informed about related areas of study.

<http://ubdata.univie.ac.at/AC11229966>